

AAUW FUNDS RESEARCH AFFECTING WOMEN

Reout Arbel is an AAUW International Fellowship recipient from Israel doing postdoctoral work in Clinical Psychology. Her research studies the ways that aggression is transmitted from generation to generation. It is designed to investigate links between stress and health that affect women. She plans to use her scientific knowledge for the development of prevention programs in Israel.

The AAUW Fellowship program funds research like Dr. Arbel's - research that will make a real difference in the lives of women. Come hear about the research that AAUW helps make possible. You will be inspired by both the researcher and the research.
