Limits to Financial Fitness

April brings to mind spring flowers, allergies and of course, TAXES. Although our tithing to Uncle Sam doesn't occur exactly on April 15 this year, what better way to celebrate the occasion than by educating ourselves on Financial Fitness? Our speaker, Michelle Waters, is highly qualified to do just that. She is an author, lecturer, consultant and business/executive coach possessing unique experience and wisdom in advancing a more balanced feminine/masculine leadership model.

Michelle and her co-author documented real-world career stories and daily life anecdotes about women's experiences in the work and personal life struggle. They uncovered how women trap themselves with outdated but pervasive ideals and named this limiting belief system the Feminine Filter. Curious to understand the impact the Feminine Filter has on a woman's finances, Michelle will share how these same outdated beliefs are impacting a woman's psyche and long-term financial fitness, relationships and all aspects of her life. Women need to turn their belief system around, not only by starting to think and work smarter, but to re-frame their assumptions about their money behavior and guilt.
